For People Who Care About What They Eat!

This homestyle canned albacore tuna is produced the same way Gail Kimmel has been doing it for years.

The tuna is caught hook & line then processed at the Kimmel family's processing plant in Port Townsend, WA operated by Scott Kimmel.

KIMMEL'S homestyle canned albacore tuna contains only natural ingredients: premium quality albacore tuna, water and salt. First we hand fillet, trim, wash and inspect the fish. Our tuna is then raw packed into jars and cooked once, retaining all of its natural oils and juices, including healthy Omega 3's. The jars are stacked in a large pressure cooker and cooked according to FDA specifications.

Enjoy this natural healthy source of protein. We are certain that you will find this canned tuna to be the best you have ever eaten!
